NEW FRANKEN, WI – March 16, 2020

Dental Health Products, Inc. (DHPI), a leading distributor of dental and surgical products, announces the opening of a new Houston, Texas, warehouse/distribution center.

The new distribution center, located at 1631 Gillingham Lane, Suite 100 in Sugar Land, Texas, spans over 51,500 of usable square feet and provides same day or next day delivery to Texas markets and surrounding regions. DHPI now has three distribution centers in the United States. With the opening of the new facility, DHPI is now able to ship dental supplies to nearly 90% of their customers within the continental United States within one to two business days. The new facility also contains local sales and service branch operations, a continuing education center, and an equipment and technology center. The facility represents DHPI's commitment to delivering the best personalized service to current and future customers.

"This location builds on DHPI's ongoing expansion plans and supports regional customer demand," states Steve Desautel, Vice President, Sales and Marketing. "We officially opened the new distribution center on January 20th, 2020 after successfully staffing and training our team. Shipments from this center to Texas and the Southeast region of the US allows us to improve this region's access to inventory and enhances the services we offer to the dental industry."

Are you looking for a new career opportunity? DHPI is expanding employment. To be part of our growing DHPI sales and service team, please contact DHPI's Human Resources department at (800) 626-2163.
