NEW FRANKEN, WI – April 2016

Dental Health Products, Inc. (DHPI) and Futudent, <http://www.futudent.com/en>

Dental Health Products, Inc., one of the leading dental supply and equipment distributors in the U.S., and Futudent announce their new partnership. This partnership will give more education technology options to dental professionals across the U.S.

Futudent's solution offers a wide range of meaningful applications from dental education to private practice. It is an integrated package of software and hardware, enabling digital documentation of high quality video, storing, live previewing and sharing of real dental images, videos and text.

Futudent was designed to make video practical for daily use with every patient. The Futudent camera and cloud service enhances communication between dentists, patients and treatment teams as well as between dental tutors, students and other colleagues.

Use real-time video in the dialogue with dental customers

"Modern customer service will elevate a private dentist's business", believes Lars Kåhre, one of the founders and CEO of Futudent. "Our ambition is based on a thorough understanding of a dentist's work. We care about raising the level of the dental service and focusing on modernizing daily dental communication worldwide."

With a lightweight Futudent camera mounted on the loupes, the dentist can film and explain while working with no interruption and no special skills. The patient and hygienist can see from a screen exactly what the doctor is seeing. The films and still pictures are easy to edit later on and they can be safely shared with comments or guidance for the dental team and/or the customer, who are allowed access to the data folder.

"I use the camera routinely every day with every patient. The communication is unbelievably improved because there is no question of what I see. The patient sees exactly the same on the TV as my loupe-mounted camera, and that opens the dialogue", says Dr. Wayne Hollar who is one of the pioneering dentists utilizing the Futudent system.

DHPI has been servicing the dental professional community, whether a General Practice or Special Markets Account, by partnering with industry leading manufacturers to offer a robust selection of SUPPLIES, EQUIPMENT and SOLUTIONS. DHPI is considered one of the industry's top dental distributors in the U.S. DHPI's mission is "To provide personalized and timely solutions for our healthcare partners so they will continue to exceed their goals and their patients' expectations."
